

AGAINST

ALL

voices of popular struggle in iraq

ODDS

an evening with the author

Thursday October 29 @ 7 pm
Syracuse University
Hall of Languages, Room 107

ALI ISSA

Collected from dozens of interviews with, and reports from, Iraqi feminists, labor organizers, environmentalists, and protest movement leaders, "Against All Odds" presents the unique voices of progressive Iraqi organizing on the ground.

Ali Issa is the National Field Organizer with War Resisters League, where he is co-coordinator of a campaign to end police militarization. He is originally from Iowa and holds a Master's in Arabic Studies from the University of Texas at Austin. His literary translations have appeared in Banipal, the PEN World Atlas Blog, and Jadaliyya, where he is a contributor on Iraqi social movements.

Sponsored by Democratizing Knowledge, Labor Studies, and Middle Eastern Studies at Syracuse University and War Resisters League